

How does my freelance copywriting service work?

How my freelance copywriting service works:

- You email me a brief. It can be as scanty as a list of bullets or as in-depth as a detailed briefing document.
- I send you a quote by email within 24 hours. If I have any questions or comments I'll raise them at this stage and re-quote if necessary.
- Provided you approve my quote, we agree a timescale between us. I can generally move projects around to fit yours in if it's urgent.
- I email you a first draft of your copy on the agreed date. I include any direct marketing-led recommendations that occur to me along the way, all part of the service.
- You come back to me via email with any comments or amendments. And I adjust your copy as necessary.
- Once you're 100% happy I'll email you an invoice. You can pay by PayPal, bank transfer or cheque.

About working with a green geek...

I'm committed to a greener lifestyle, minimising my impact on the planet by neither driving nor flying. So I communicate by email rather than meeting my clients face to face.

I charge £60 an hour for freelance copywriting and editing services and quote on a project by project basis.
